Meditation: “Lifting up pure hands is the expression of a pure heart; just as, on the contrary, Isaiah rebukes the Jews for lifting up “bloody hands” when he attacks their cruelty... It [represents an]... attitude in accordance with true godliness... namely, that, having been informed that we ought to seek God in heaven, first, we should form no conception of Him that is earthly or carnal; and, secondly, that we should lay aside carnal affections, so that nothing may prevent our hearts from rising above the world. Idolaters and hypocrites when they lift up their hands in prayer, are apes; for while they profess, by the outward symbol, that their minds are raised upwards, the former are fixed on wood and stone, as if God were shut up in them, and the latter, wrapped up either in useless anxieties, or in wicked thoughts, cleave to the earth; and therefore, by a gesture of an opposite meaning, they bear testimony against themselves.” (John Calvin)

CONGREGATIONAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

~We would like to thank the congregation for the meals, cards, prayers and many kind words during Annie's time on bedrest and after Fern's birth. We feel truly blessed by the communion of the saints in the congregation.

Eric, Annie and Fern Pastoor
 LD 21 Q&A 55

What do you understand by “the communion of the saints”?

First, that all and everyone who believes, being members of Christ, are, in common, partakers of Him and of all His riches and gifts; secondly that everyone must know it to be his duty, readily and cheerfully to employ his gifts, for the advantage and salvation of other members.
